

TAXING MANUFACTORIES SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION BY BOARD OF TRADE

Amendment Prepared by Attorney A. A. Stasel, Proposed and Considered at Membership Meeting Wednesday Night

SPEECHES MADE BY PROPONENTS AND OPPONENTS

No Disposition Shown by Former to Criticise Work of Auditor, Board of Review or Other Taxing Authorities, But Friends of the Amendment Believe That the Law Under Which They Operate Should Be Changed—Banquet and Social Session.

The matter of the taxation of manufacturing plants in proportion to other classes of property, came in for a general discussion Thursday night at the monthly membership meeting of the Board of Trade, held at the Plymouth Congregational church. There were over one hundred present, and before the meeting was called to order formally by President Fred C. Evans, dinner was served by the ladies of the church in the style that has been their custom and has given the cuisine at this church a famous and enviable reputation.

The occasion, from a social viewpoint, was made more enjoyable by the presence of O. J. Hawkins' orchestra, which rendered a number of popular selections, while a quartet consisting of J. W. Horner, I. B. Warthen, Bert Horton and Will Reynolds, sang several numbers, which were highly enjoyable.

The board's directorate was represented by Messrs. C. C. Metz, W. C. Wells, W. L. Prout, Carl Norpell, and President Fred C. Evans presiding.

It had been announced that Hon. W. D. Fulton would address the meeting, but he could not leave Columbus as the legislature held a session Wednesday, and W. A. Aisdorf, who was to speak on good roads, was also absent, so that the subject of taxation of manufacturing industries was immediately taken up.

The discussion was precipitated by the introduction of a proposed amendment to the general code of Ohio, which Attorney A. A. Stasel said he had prepared at the request of President Evans.

The amendment was as follows:

of said manufacturing, owning, operating or leasing company, but shall assess said property at its true value in money generally and not its special value to the particular corporation, and after so ascertaining said value shall deduct from the aggregate sum so found of each, the value as assessed for taxation of any real estate included in the return. The value of the property of each of such companies, after so deducting the value of all the real estate included in the return, shall be apportioned by the auditor to such cities, villages, townships or taxing districts, pro rata, in proportion to the value of the real estate and fixed property included in the return, in each of such cities, villages, townships or taxing districts. The auditor shall place such apportioned valuation on the tax duplicate and taxes shall be levied and collected thereon at the same rate and in the same manner that taxes are levied and collected on other personal property in such township, village, city or taxing district.

Section 2. That said original Section 5405 of the General Code be and the same is hereby repealed.

The discussion was participated in by a number who have made some study of taxation, or who have been identified in different capacities with the machinery of taxation levies, and some potent opposition developed to the general idea of any discrimination in favor of successful manufacturing paying their just amount of taxation upon the same basis as any person, corporation, stock company or public utility.

Attorney E. S. Randolph, a member of the Board of Review, took decided ground in opposition to the proposed amendment, and in the course of his remarks said:

"The property of public utilities, banks and all real estate is now on

PRES. TAFT VETOES THE WEBB BILL

Washington, Feb. 28.—President Taft in a special message to congress today vetoed the Webb bill to prohibit the shipment of liquor into dry states. Questions of constitutionality were the president's chief reason for vetoing the measure.

WILL LEAVE QUESTION TO SUCCESSOR

Washington, Feb. 28.—The rejoinder of the British government to the last American note regarding the Panama canal zone question was delivered today to Secretary Knox by Ambassador Bryce. Though naturally of great interest to Secretary Knox, he will make no effort to consider it, but will allow negotiations on the American side to be continued by his successor in office.

OLD GUARD'S TRIP TO WASHINGTON, D. C.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Congressman Ashbrook is much interested in the proposition to bring the "Old Guard" from Newark and Columbus to the Wilson inauguration and he indicated his interest today by wiring a substantial contribution to the fund which will be used in transporting the veterans to and from Washington. Mr. Ashbrook endeavored to secure subscriptions from other Ohio members of congress but the representative declined on the ground that it would be a mistake to bring the old soldiers here unless the fund is large enough to defray their entire expense. Washington is rapidly filling and the price of rooms is soaring. Today it is hard to find hotel accommodations at any price.

General Isaac R. Sherwood of Toledo, is opposed to bringing the old soldiers here. He says it is a mistake. "The city will be crowded, accommodations cannot be secured and the veterans will be robbed if they come," said General Sherwood.

CASTRO GETS INVITATION TO INAUGURATION

Washington, Feb. 28.—American Minister Beaure, at Havana, Cuba, telegraphed the state department today that former President Castro of Venezuela announces he has been invited by President-elect Wilson to attend the inauguration. He will leave Saturday for Washington and will return to Havana later.

BURGLARS MURDER A POLICEMAN

Kansas City, Feb. 28.—Homer Riddle, a policeman, aged 37, was overpowered, disarmed and killed by two burglars he had arrested and was taking to jail, early today.

While the burglars were robbing a saloon Riddle came upon them and ordered them to surrender. They obeyed and the officer started with them to the police station. After going three blocks the two prisoners attacked the officer, took his pistol and ran. He pursued them and they shot him with his own weapon. The burglars escaped.

KILLING OF MADERO IS CONFIRMED

Brother of Assassinated Ruler Meets Death Leading Rebel Force

ANOTHER STREET BATTLE

Is Expected Late Today in Aguas Calientes Between Rebels and Govern- ment Troops.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Official announcement of the killing of Emilio Madero, brother of the former president of Mexico, reported several times recently, was contained today in a dispatch from Ambassador Wilson, who reported Madero shot while leading a rebel force in the northern states. This brings the death list of Maderos in the recent Mexican troubles up to three.

Mexico City, Feb. 28.—An important battle between the rebel governor of Aguas Calientes, Alberto Feuneces, and government troops under Gen. Hidalgo, is expected late today.

The state capital, Aguas Calientes, is surrounded by government troops who last night began a siege. The governor is entrenched in the government palace in the city.

A repetition on a small scale of the street fight and bombardment which occurred in Mexico City appears inevitable.

The isolation of Mexico City from the United States by rail is completed.

Ramos Martinez who, for several months conducted semi-official negotiations for peace between Madero and Zapata, declared today that Zapata would surrender and co-operate with the government.

Porfirio Diaz, former president and builder of the Mexican republic, has responded to the call of his native country.

According to information from a source close to the government, Porfirio Diaz has sent a cablegram to his nephew, Felix Diaz, giving the conditions upon which he will come back to help restore peace and prosperity. Porfirio is said to disclaim any ambition to set himself up as the head of the government, saying his sole ambition will be to see peace and prosperity restored in his native land before he dies.

The plan suggested by Felix Diaz and consented to by Provisional President Victoriano Huerta provides for making Porfirio Diaz military dictator, by proclaiming him commander-in-chief of the army.

If present plans are carried out Porfirio will sail for Vera Cruz from a French port about March 15 and should arrive here before April 1.

Victoriano Huerta, Provisional President of Mexico, is shown in this portrait. He is a man with dark hair, wearing a suit and tie. The portrait is a black and white photograph.

WILL ADMINISTER THE OATH OF OFFICE TO WILSON AND MARSHALL

(Copyright by Harris & Ewing) Senator Jacob H. Gallinger (Copyright by J. Knowles Bishop) Chief Justice Edward D. White.

Chief Justice Edward Douglas White of the United States Supreme court will administer the oath of office to the new president on March 4. The chief justice was born in Louisiana and is sixty-eight years old. He has served in several judicial capacities in both federal and state courts, besides being a member of his state legislature and a United States senator. He was appointed an associate justice of the United States Supreme court in 1894, while serving in the Senate. On December 12, 1910, he was appointed by President Taft to his present position.

Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, acting president pro tem, of the United States Senate, will administer the oath of office to the new vice president. The ceremony will take place in the chamber of the United States Senate in the presence of the members of the Senate, members of the House of Representatives, the retiring president, the president-elect, and the justices of the Supreme court.

SCORES OF LIVES LOST IN OMAHA HOTEL HOLOCAUST

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 28.—Fire believed to have been caused by a gas explosion cost fifteen or more lives here today and caused a loss of $250,000. At noon only about twenty-five out of sixty persons estimated to have been in the building have been accounted for, but it is hoped that the death list would be smaller than first estimated, as many who escaped are reported to have left the neighborhood without making known their identity.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 28.—Loss of life estimated all the way from 20 to 75 resulted from a fire which destroyed the Dewey Hotel, a second-class hostelry occupying a three-story building at Thirteenth and Farnum streets today.

The fact that the hotel register was destroyed will make it difficult to obtain a list of the dead, and while the manager of the place states that about 50 were registered, others about the hotel declared that many of the guests were not registered and that the total number was more nearly a hundred. Of these not more than 25 are known to have escaped.

The cause of the fire has not been determined. It started in the rear of the building but had gained great headway before it was discovered.

The lower floors were occupied by the Raphael-Ford Clothing company, the Miller Liquor company and the Adams Express company. The stock of all these companies was destroyed.

Charles Cumming, a bartender, jumped from a third story window and met instant death. He struck head first on the sidewalk. Mrs. C. W. Hawkins, wife of the proprietor, also jumped, and, although two policemen broke her fall, she was badly injured. Her sister's body, Miss Alice Bonneive, is in the ruins.

That the basement into which the burning interior fell within half an hour contains at least 40 bodies, is the belief of Fire Chief Salter.

Only four bodies were recovered before the flames drove the firemen from the building.

WHAT IS THE BOARD OF TRADE?

By Chalmers L. Pencoast.

This level-headed—fair—square organization is the medium through which every citizen can syndicate his strength and effort for good, and thus promote a powerful force for Newark's development. To attain community welfare and advancement, it is necessary to attain community unity.

When the community is a unit for community development and advancement, no power is great enough to defeat its onward march, because Unity is the first requisite of all collective effort; and collective effort is the only effective effort in a community.

HAAS BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE

Creates Commission to Take Over Work of 7 State Departments

PROGRESSIVE MEASURE

Endorsed by Governor in Most Sweeping in Char- acter—Would Save State Thousands.

Columbus, O., Feb. 28.—With practically the same unanimity with which the senate passed the workmen's compensation bill, that body yesterday accepted the measure creating an industrial commission, another of the big measures of the Cox administration. Only two senators voted against the bill. They were Cook of Hamilton and Gallagher of Madison.

Modeled after the Wisconsin measure, the proposed Ohio law is one of the most sweeping and progressive yet acted upon by either branch of the Eightieth general assembly. It proposes to center responsibility for the working of seven state departments in three persons, of the propriety of whose acts the governor will be sole judge. He will have power of appointment and summary removal. Salaries are to be $5000 a year.

As between employer and employee the industrial commission is empowered to act as arbiter in disputes.

The measure is not so far-reaching as first planned by Governor Cox. Besides enumerating many new things which employers must do for the welfare of their employees, such as providing suitable places in which to work and safeguards against accident, the bill gives the commission power to enforce all present laws of that character. The original measure sought to substitute for many of the existing regulatory statutes orders of the board having equal effect, but this was considered too radical and present laws were retained.

The industrial commission will exercise control over the liability board of awards, the department of labor statistics, inspector of mines, inspector of workshops and factories, examiner of stationary engineers, board fixing boiler rules and the board of arbitration.

According to Senator William E. Haas of Delaware, father of the measure, these departments use $228,249 a year for running expenses and salaries. He thinks the commission can cut this $50,000 to $100,000.

Appeals from an order of the commission can only be made to the common pleas court of Franklin county, and no injunction can issue tying up an order of the commission until the disputed points are being litigated. No new evidence can be submitted before the court which was not offered in the hearing before the commission.

The measure, if passed by the house and signed by the governor, will go into effect Sept. 1.

LIQUOR LICENSE BILL RECEIVES FIRST READING

Introduced in the senate yesterday by its author, Senator W. A. Greenlund of Cleveland, the new liquor license bill received its first reading, second reading, was referred to the committee on temperance, was reported back for passage and made a special order of business for 2 o'clock next Thursday, all in less than half an hour.

Wet members of the joint committee yesterday morning partly conceded to the demands of the dry members for a reduction in the percentage of petitioner for a referendum vote to raise the ratio of saloons to inhabitants in any municipality.

The percentage was fixed at .75. The original draft of the bill called for 40 per cent.

Dining cars presented such a perplexing question that the committee refused to consider them in the present bill. Railroad representatives probably will draw up a separate measure and have it presented. Amendments seeking to keep out brewers who have been ousted from other states may be presented.

By a vote of 18 to 12 the senate yesterday defeated the bill by Senator Hillenkamp of Lucas, which sought to change the system of collecting delinquent taxes. Instead of having the property sold at public auction the measure ordered it sold by court order.

"I have overthrown this government." That is not a good basis for recognition by the family of nations.

MICHIGAN "AGGIES" AT GRANVILLE TONIGHT

Granville, Feb. 28.—Coach Livingston put his fast Denison basketball squad through its final rehearsal last evening for the Michigan Aggies game here Friday night. He seldom gives the team any work on the day before a contest except a very light signal practice but inasmuch as the visitors are thought to be familiar with Denison's peculiar style of defense and plan of aggressive attack, Livingston saw fit to give the men a short but fast workout Thursday night.

The Aggies come to the Granville floor with the reputation of having the fastest team in Michigan and Captain Rupp's men are determined to put a crimp in their clean record for this season.

When the whistles blows the Aggies line up will contain such men as Goss, Dodge, Matheson and Spencer. All of these are men of great athletic prowess and it is doubtful if there will ever be a better array of basketball talent seen on the Granville floor than will appear there this evening.

The way the Denison team worked at Delaware last Saturday night when Wesleyan was treated to a decisive defeat before a crowd of 1500 people shows Livingston's men to be a bunch of veterans who can always be depended upon to play the game of their lives.

When asked about the prospects for tonight Captain Rupp said that he was unwilling to make any predictions as to the outcome but he said the visitors are on top when the final whistle blows they will know that they have been through something. Black Denison's star forward, who has proven the stumbling block for so many conference teams this season, thinks that the outlook for winning against the Aggies is brilliant, still he thinks that Denison will have to extend herself more than at any previous game this season.

The game will begin promptly at 8:30 tonight, and those in attendance from Newark can leave at 7:30 and will be guaranteed good seats as heretofore.

Denison has two more Ohio Conference games and both of these will be played at home. Cincinnati U. comes to Granville on next Friday night and Western Reserve will be the attraction on the evening of March 14.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS ASTONISHED

RHEUMA Acts On Kidneys, Liver and Blood the First Day—and Out Goes Uric Acid Poison.

Anybody can afford to pay 50 cents to get rid of terrible Rheumatism, Sciatica or Gout, and that's all RHEUMA costs at Evans' drug store, and they say if it doesn't do all that is claimed for it, money back.

It's wonderful how speedily this simple remedy takes hold and how the sore muscles limber up and the swollen joints come down to normal. Make no mistake—RHEUMA costs but little, but it's the best remedy you can find to drive Rheumatic poison from the system and bring back health to misery-racked bodies.

"I had Rheumatism for a long while, and tried many medicines, but was not cured until I used RHEUMA. I cannot praise RHEUMA too highly. My advice to those suffering from Rheumatism is to use this great remedy, as I believe it will effect a permanent cure in any case."—C. B. Latham, Santee, W. Va., April 27, 1912.

Musterole—Quick Relief! No Blister!

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and the pain is gone!

Millions of people have adopted MUSTEROLE in place of the mustard plaster.

You will find it in large hospitals. Doctors and nurses use MUSTEROLE and recommend it to their patients.

They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Catarrh, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's in 25c and 50c tins, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

Mrs. C. W. Tomlin, St. Antonio, Texas, writes: "I have used Musterole for many years and it has cured me of many ailments."

CLARK GIVES UP TO COAKLEY AT SPRINGFIELD, O.

Springfield, Feb. 28.—A close fought battle in the center of the ring in two minutes after the opening of the seventh round by the action of K. J. Clark of Columbus gave the victory to Ft. Wayne the decision in their bout last night.

Clark never had a chance with Coakley, who forced the leading after the third round. The signal of Clark was a big disappointment to the battle followers, many of whom in the final round. When the signal was given, Clark's opponent, the crowd, the first couple of rounds was a heavy fight after that Coakley was leading while Clark ran in the clinches and avoided further punishment.

In the third round Clark went to the floor with a smash and lay down and waited till the count of ten before rising. Again he went to his knees and from then on until the end was groggy most of the time. In the fourth round Coakley landed rights and lefts at will and door of Clark. The Columbus boy's eye was cut but he stood the punishment without a whimper and the bell saved him from being knocked out at the close of the fifth.

With the opening of the seventh, Clark rushed and landed left and right to lead three times in succession forcing Clark to the ropes. It was then that the sponge was tossed into the ring. During the fight Clark did not land a half dozen of his blows and Coakley left the ring without a mark.

In the preliminary, Bill Ketchel of Grand Rapids secured the decision over Terry Nelson of Chicago after 10 rounds of fast fighting.

KRUM KALER TO TRY SPITTER

Pensacola, Fla., Feb. 28.—Today the information of George Kaler, former Senator, now with the Cleveland Naps, began.

Kaler has entered a spitball in his repertoire. The plans have been discussed. "Bill" Steen has been appointed instructor. Henceforth Kaler will devote himself consistently to the new delivery.

Kaler has the construction, the mode of delivery and the speed to make a "spitter" highly effective.

Birmingham and other veterans of the club feel confident that he will make a great spitball pitcher. By the way the delivery isn't new to him. He started to use it two years ago and had wonderful success, but for some reason or other he desisted it.

No Longer Granky About His Meals

Has Perfect Digestion From the Use of a Well Known Remedy That All Can Obtain.

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table, depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experiences of some former dyspeptics who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

In the opinion of such people as Mr. L. J. Quinn, 1117 Newport avenue, Chicago, it is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

Mr. Quinn says: "We use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as a family remedy and every member of the family from the five-year-old, who is the youngest of six children, to Mrs. Quinn and myself, use it for stomach trouble, sick headache and to regulate the bowels."

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington street, Monticello, Ill., and a free sample will be mailed to you.

BOARD OF TRADE

the tax duplicate at the full valuation in money of this property. The valuation on public utilities, such as telegraph and telephone companies, electric light, gas, street cars and other kinds of property of this general nature, has been arrived at by ascertaining the net income, the value of the capital stock and securities of these corporations.

"In view of this a great injustice would be done to owners of any one of the above kinds of property, if the property of manufacturing concerns is to be listed without a due consideration of all the elements that enter into the value of any kind of property."

"One of the elements taken into consideration by any taxing authority (or any one else, for that matter) in valuing any kind of property, is the revenue or prospect of revenue that property will produce. There cannot be two bases for the valuation of any kind of property—one its value in the commercial world (as property is bought and sold by business men), and the other a value for taxation. Whatever its value is in the commercial world, should be its value for taxation if we are to follow the rule laid down in the constitution, providing that 'all property is to be listed at its true value in money.'"

"We think the proposed amendment would be clearly unconstitutional, because it would provide that property of this character would be valued on a different basis from that used in the valuation of other kinds of property."

Auditor C. L. Riley also contended, in opposition to the amendment and the statement of its author, that manufacturers were now taxed on their income, that such was not the case, and stated that except in one instance, the income of the manufacturing plants in this community was not known.

"The income, however, is an important factor," said Mr. Riley. "In making up valuations, but we have had to get at the values by other means, such as the market value of the capital stocks of corporations and the surplus, if any."

Mr. Riley said in conclusion, however, that he wanted more information and enlightenment on the subject before he could say definitely if he would or would not vote for such an amendment.

The claims made by those in favor of the amendment were:

That the tax duplicate, as well as the value of all the property in the city, depends upon the number and size of the manufacturing industries located here.

That the present law, as well as the constitution of the state, provides that all property shall be taxed at its true value in money.

That the state tax commission, county auditors and boards of review, in assessing manufacturers, do not confine themselves to the tangible property, such as the real estate and personal property of a concern in determining the value of the plant, but take into consideration the earning power of these plants.

That this method of taxation is unfair and will result in driving manufacturers away from here and discouraging others from coming here, and will discourage people from investing money, who are here, in manufacturing plants.

That if this town is to grow, it is absolutely necessary to have more manufacturing plants.

That there is no disposition to criticize or find fault with the county auditor or the city board of review. That they were adopting the method provided by the state tax commission and were doing their duty conscientiously, as they saw it.

The object of the resolution was to amend the law so that in taxing manufacturing plants they would be taxed the same as the property of an individual or a partnership and in the same manner as the personal property and real estate of a doctor, or a lawyer, or a farmer, or anybody else is taxed.

If we expect to get manufacturers to increase their plants who are already here, if we expect to get other manufacturers from other states to come into this state or city and locate, or if we expect people who are here to invest their money in manufacturing industries, we have got to give them some encouragement.

That our manufacturing plants are now taxed the full value thereof, that they also have to pay a tax on their corporate stock to the state and that they also have to pay a certain part of their income to the general government, and it was not right to put a penalty on a man for making his concern prosperous because it is only the concerns that are prosperous that are worth anything to a state or city and can employ labor and pay them good wages.

Mr. Carl Norpell in speaking in favor of the proposed amendment, said that its friends had no disposition to criticize or find fault with the auditor or the Board of Review, who had done their duty in a capable and conscientious manner, and in strict accordance with the letter and spirit of the law and it was the provisions of this law that was under criticism, and the proposition was to change it so that a more liberal policy could legally be adopted toward manufacturing concerns by the taxing powers.

Mr. Stasel, the author of the proposed amendment, spoke in its behalf, saying among other things:

Stasel's Remarks.
The object of this amendment is to make a rule by which to appraise manufacturing plants. There have been in some instances a disposition to appraise their property largely upon their income or net profit.

"Whereas the factors are in a measure proper to consider in appraising a plant, it should not be the controlling factor in so doing."

"The industry, enterprise, ingenuity of the management is the real thing that makes any factory or business a going concern and a profit maker, and to tax the profits would not be taxing the property. The property of a factory making no profits or losing money would be appraised at their true value in money," which would be what they would sell for in the open market. The property of a profitable money making factory would be appraised at a higher figure because if put on the market it would sell for more money.

"But to say that the net profits of the concern should be the measuring rule by which the property would be appraised is not fair because this would be taxing the industry and enterprise of the owners. If large profits are due to a patented article or machine, this would be taxing the patent right, which the law does not permit, because the patent gives the owner under the law the exclusive use as a reward for his genius and labor in perfecting his patent."

"The factories are the things in a town that builds it up and gives labor employment and every town wants them and pays often large sums to get them. Being so desirable an element in the prosperity of a town we should seek all honest means to keep them. But if the assessment of their property is to be made at an exorbitant figure this fact will prove a discouragement to those thinking of locating with us as well as those now located here."

"To illustrate the point with an example. Say John Doe forms a company, builds and equips a factory to make cigars, his plant costs the company $25,000, by his skill and industry he makes the business pay a dividend of 10 per cent on $25,000."

"Richard Roe gets up a company to manufacture cigars, his plant costs $25,000, located adjoining the first named plant, by his skill and industry the Roe company pays a dividend of twenty per cent on $25,000."

"Should the property of these two companies be appraised at a different value for taxation? If so, then the Roe company will pay a tax upon its industry and skill."

"Now the rule, we think, that taxes industry and skill should not prevail, and the proposed amendment is to prevent assessments of that character."

"There is real property in this town that pays twenty per cent per year upon its taxed value and it is appraised for axes at all it will sell for in the market."

"This property, if owned by some men would not pay six per cent, on the appraisement. The fourteen per cent difference is in the industry and skill of the owner. So far as the most of us are concerned we will say he earns the difference. But to raise the appraisement according to income would be taking the industry and skill of the owner, who makes his twenty per cent."

"But to remember it is not proposed to apply this rule to public service corporations. They have franchises which makes their property valuable."

Remarks were also made by James F. Irwin, C. W. Montgomery, W. H. Smith, Fred C. Evans and others, and Mr. Smith made a motion, seconded by C. L. Riley, to lay the amendment on the table until the March membership meeting, which was carried, and the discussion of the subject was ended.

Addresses were made by W. A. Archer, Dr. J. P. H. Stedem, J. F. Irwin and others urging that the Board of Trade take a more active interest in politics to the end that better officials be selected and the laws be enforced more strictly and intelligently. The speakers disclaimed any intention of reflecting on any one or any department of the present administration.

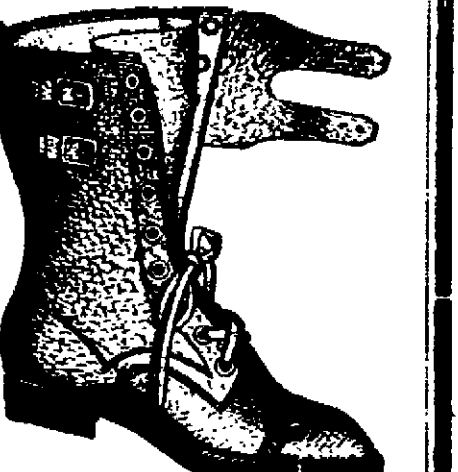

The meeting adjourned at 9:30 o'clock.

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Sweetens Their Stomachs and Cleanses the Liver and Waste-Clogged Bowels Without Gripping

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that it is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and bowels so promptly besides they dearly love its delicate fig taste.

If your child isn't feeling well, resting nicely, acting naturally and its little inside needs a gentle, thorough cleansing.

When a child is irritable, feverish, has a cold, cough, bad or sour stomach, sour, watery or diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs in a few hours all the foul, congested, clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, gripping or weakness and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of delicious figs, senna and aromatic, it cannot be harmful. Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

OBITUARY

MR. GEORGE HUGHES.

Mr. George Hughes, aged 76 years, died at his home, one mile west of the Licking church, on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Hughes was a veteran of the war of 1861-65 and was the last of a family of nine children. He is survived by his widow and four children, Richard, residing near Toboso, and John, Harry and Grace, of the home.

Mr. Hughes has been ailing for some time, his illness being of a paralytic nature, however, death came as a great surprise and shock.

The funeral services will be held on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, at the Licking Baptist church, Rev. A. K. McCall officiating. Burial will be made in the adjoining cemetery.

DEATH OF CHILD.

Bertha Amelia Drum, aged 2 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Drum of 114 Maholm street, died Thursday morning. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning, the funeral party leaving the Maholm street home at 10 o'clock.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank all the friends and neighbors and all those who helped during the illness and funeral of our dear mother, for sympathy and beautiful flowers. Also the singers and organist for beautiful music. Ernest Atherton and Sister.

Fashion Talk
The "Nell Rose."

The styles this spring are the newest, brightest and cleverest brought out in years. As the story goes, Miss Eleanor Wilson, daughter of the President-elect, is responsible for the popularity and the name of the new color—"Nell Rose." When asked for her favorite color by a big silk manufacturer who wished the honor of wearing the material for her gown for the inauguration, she chose the color of the outside petal of the American Beauty Rose. It is already immensely popular and will continue throughout the season. It is used as trimming and linings in the coats, for dresses and very extensively in millinery. In striking contrast all shades of blue stand prominently among the favorite colors.

We have Suits, Coats and Dresses and plenty of them—all new, all different. The styles are distinctive and unusual. Come in and see them.

Clean hair brushes with GOLD DUST

To clean hair brushes without injury, have ready two basins, one three-fourths full of boiling water and the other with the same amount of cold water. In the boiling water, dissolve a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder and shake the bristles up and down in the solution until they are thoroughly clean, then at once rinse well in cold water and stand the brush to dry in the air or in a warm place, but not too near the fire. Of course the back of the brush must not be wet.

Good hair brushes are costly, but if properly cared for they will last for years.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

SOCIETY

Mrs. L. H. Fleming was hostess to the Reading and Sewing Club, Thursday afternoon at her home in East Main street. Sewing and music were the pleasures of the afternoon followed by refreshments.

The members present were: Mesdames C. L. V. Holtz, H. L. Burch, C. F. Wendelkin, Fred Squibbins, Howard Houn, Joseph Kirk, L. W. Swan, O. E. Seward, P. W. Faust, William Briggs, Charles Sward, and Miss Emma Drietch, and guest, Miss Mabel Widant of Mt. Vernon.

The next meeting will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. S. W. Swan.

Mrs. George Richrick entertained the members of the Art Embroidery club at her home in Dewey avenue, Wednesday. Several hours were spent in needle work after which the hostess served a delightful luncheon.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Kromer, Mrs. H. C. Jones and Miss Helen Bolan of Zanesville.

The engagement is announced of Miss Helen Jeannette Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Shields of near Worthington, and Mr. Phil S. Bradford. Mr. Bradford was graduated from the law department of Ohio State University and is attorney for the Columbus branch of a surety bond company. Miss Shields attended Vassar college, Ohio State Journal.

One of the most enjoyable social functions of the week was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Moors in Mahoning street on Wednesday evening, when some of the members of the A. L. U. assembled and spent the time in cards, music, etc. At a late hour the guests were seated in the dining room where a two course chicken supper was served. At a late hour the guests departed after a very enjoyable evening.

Those present were: Mesdames, and Mesdames L. H. Moors, J. M. Speddie, J. L. Baldwin, W. H. Wells, H. B. McLaughlin, John Robinson, E. A. Tandy, Carrie Mohr, F. C. Foss, F. C. Moors, W. H. Theodore Moors, Fred Lantuschner, Louis Moors Jr., and Mr. Elmer Fletcher of Akron, O.

Mrs. E. C. Vanatta is the hostess to the members of the Baptist Ladies Aid society this afternoon at her home in Hudson avenue.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Miss Ruth Hayman, 123 Volandicham street, Thursday. Music and games were indulged in.

Delicious refreshments were served to the guests by Mesdames Mary Stack, Edith Stough, and Mrs. N. McDonald, Beatrice Martin, Muggie Hayman, Ruth Hayman.

Mrs. E. M. Hauger was hostess at a luncheon today complimentary to Miss Marion Ogden of Granville. Green and white were prettily carried out in all the appointments.

Covers were placed for Miss Ogden, Mrs. H. S. Flock, Mrs. D. M. Ogden, Mrs. Charles McGroder and Mrs. Edwin Robbins of Granville.

A pretty event honoring Miss Marion Ogden, whose marriage to Mr. Warren Ogden of Cleveland will be a social event of March 4, was the tea, yesterday, by Mrs. Frank Ray at her pretty country home out of Granville. The tea table was adorned by a large bowl of carnations. The hours were from 2:30 to 4:30.

Among those present were: Miss Ogden, Miss Mary McKibbin, Miss Marion Rose, Mrs. Clara Owens, Miss Helen Hunt, Miss Ruth Bailey, Miss Sara Seymour, Miss Penney, Mrs. D. M. Ogden, Mrs. Roy Edwards.

ILL FROM PTOMAIN POISONING

Five members of the family of Mr. Lawrence Van Winkle in Buckingham street are seriously ill as the result of ptomaine poisoning. Those who are suffering from the effects of the poisoning are Mrs. Van Winkle and her four children.

The family partook of a hearty supper on Thursday evening, at which a canned vegetable was used. During the early morning hours, the smallest child, a tot of two years, became quite ill and the mother in endeavoring to care for it was also overcome by nausea. The sickness then affected the entire family with the exception of Mr. Van Winkle. The children range in age from two to eight years.

All were seized with violent vomiting. Dr. W. S. Turner was called and administered to all the victims, who were resting more comfortably Friday afternoon. The severest symptoms of the poisoning have passed away and it is thought the illness will have no fatal results.

ENTOMBED MINERS RESCUED TODAY

QUICKLY CURES THE WORST BACKACHE

Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders and Rheumatic Pains Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backache, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and the heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder or urinary troubles, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet or ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure a original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

FIRST THINGS

The first naval battle recorded in the world's history was that between the Corinthians and the Corevans, fought February 23, 644, 2,567 years ago today. Corra, an island off the coast of Euboea, now called Corfu and belonging to Greece, had been seized by the Corinthians, and for centuries owed allegiance to the mother city. In 644 B. C. the Corevans declared their independence, and the Corinthians immediately prepared a fleet to reclaim their colony. Corra did not wait for the invaders to land on her shores, but herself gathered a fleet and went out to meet the Corinthians. Then ensued the first battle of the sea, a furious contest between the crews of what were little more than big and rude rowboats from which the Corevans emerged the victors. The battle was waged off Cape Actium, a promontory in the north of Varnadia. From that time on sea battles were frequent, and all of the petty States of Greece had payers. The conflict ended in the first sea struggle resulted over two centuries later in the Peloponnesian war.

The world is full of people who are looking for something to do, but they are not looking for the right thing. They are looking for a job, but they are not looking for a career. They are looking for a way to make money, but they are not looking for a way to make a difference.

EUGENE WELLS, Interlocutor.

The black face work is with Snucker, Nehls, Sherburne and Farmer as endmen and Ruggs and Putnam as premieres. These are all successful and men from last year's performance and something out of the ordinary can be expected.

The olio consists of two musical acts, a Hebrew and Dutch Team, a dago impersonation by one of the professors of the school, a comedy singing act by Laughlin and Putnam, and to conclude with a laughable minstrel interlude, "The Haunted Hotel." The main character in this act is Howard Ruggs who plays the part of a dago nigger. Mr. Ruggs' ability deserves special mention as his work as a blackface comedian has never been equaled in any home talent production in this city.

Then the excellent chorus work under the direction of Prof. Klose, including a fine orchestra, is a feature which in itself is well worth the price of admission.

There has been such a demand for tickets that the management has been compelled to give a matinee in which the same performance will be presented.

ECONOMY FIGHT IS THANKLESS TASK

Sounds Well in Senate, but Is Somewhat Idle.

ITS ADVOCATES UNPOPULAR

Efforts to Suppress Big Expenditures Serve Mostly as Weapon With Which to Hit "the Other Fellow" For Being Extravagant—Cannon, Fitzgerald and Mann Are Examples.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Feb. 28.—[Special.]—Although economy in public expenditures is a frequent political battlecry, the real economist is seldom popular. Economy is a good thing to talk about, it is a fine thing to preach, and it makes a good weapon with which to hit the other fellow for being extravagant, but as soon as a man or set of men begin to practice economy they incur the displeasure of everybody.

I could give a number of examples, but I do not want to be personal. I will say that the men who have been most industrious with points of order against increased salaries and other appropriations have made themselves unpopular in both senate and house. The real economists, like Cannon, Fitzgerald, Mann and others, may not be really unpopular, but they have thankless jobs.

Different Kinds of Economy.

There are many different kinds of economy. I have seen men fight for hours over salary increases and vote without a murmur for big river and harbor bills and for extravagant public building bills. The same men willingly support appropriations for good roads which would lead to expenditures far beyond anything we have known in what is called "pork barrel" legislation. But men who fight against "pork barrel" appropriations lay themselves open to criticism and are generally unpopular.

Poetry For Sherman.

Poetry strews the pages of the Congressional Record when eulogies are delivered, but the late Vice President Sherman received more tokens of this kind than almost any other man. "Sunny Jim" was not a poetic character, but his friends were inspired to express their thoughts in melancholy verse in paying their last tributes to him.

Cost of National Health.

When Senator Works of California introduced a resolution calling on the treasury department for a statement as to what the national government pays for maintaining physicians, medical corps, health bureaus, etc., it was well understood that he wanted the information for the purpose of fighting the Owen health department bill.

The result was all he anticipated. For it furnished the senate with the information that we pay for national health about $20,000,000 a year, including, of course, everything like army and navy surgeons and supplies and for many other departments which maintain health bureaus, as well as the general national health service. Works does not intend to allow that bill to pass if he can help it.

Taft's Future Title.

I have heard ex-presidents addressed as "Mr. President," and that is not proper. We call ex-governors and ex-senators "governor" and "senator," but that seems different. Our only living ex-president at present is perfectly satisfied with being called "colonel."

Mr. Taft has no military title. Probably he will become "professor," although that does not seem to be an exalted enough title for a man who has been president. Yet it seems to be the only real title he will bear, unless it should be plain "Mr." However, I do not expect that the many who have been subordinate to him for the past two years can ever be brought to the point of addressing him as "Mr. Taft."

A Distinct Advantage.

In removing the desks from the house one distinct advantage will be gained. No more will the desk of a dead member be decked in grewsome black, which has been the custom for 125 years. There was a time when the department buildings were draped in mourning whenever a man died who had been a cabinet officer. That has been stopped, and it is a good thing, for there is nothing quite so ludicrous as the "trappings of unfeigned woe," and it is always grewsome.

His Polite Notice.

Senator O'Gorman of New York occupies a seat near the main door of the senate, and it is the most natural thing in the world for members of the house upon entering the chamber to drop into it. O'Gorman has recently adopted the method of tipping the chair forward, as waiters do in dining rooms, as a polite notice that the seat is not to be appropriated.

Jim Mann's Inquiry.

"When are you going to have this protection begin?" asked Jim Mann when the house was considering the provision for the protection of the president elect. "Is it to take effect after the November election, after the electoral college meets, after the canvass of the result or after the meeting of the next Republican national convention?" Which implied that Mann is quite sure of the result four years hence.

Also never hit a man when he has you down.

SAVED BY TOY ELEPHANT.

Scientist Tells How Plaything Turned African Cannibal King.

Philadelphia.—Earl Torday, Kongo explorer, who saved his life when he faced an irate savage monarch in the wilds of Africa by the use of a mechanical toy, has returned to take charge of cataloguing the ethnological collection at the University of Pennsylvania.

"When I arrived within the domain of the cannibal king," said Mr. Torday, "I was ordered to go back. When I refused the king, accompanied by all his savage retinue, came to my tent for the purpose of personally attending to my execution. In my trunk was a tiny mechanical elephant controlled by clockwork. Glad to seize any chance to prolong my life, I wound it and placed it before the savage ruler."

"As the little toy, with swaying trunk, clicked its way toward the monarch and his party they fled. They returned later, thoroughly awed, and treated me as if I were a deity."

MOUSE DERAILS CAR.

Women Passengers, Fleeing, Bow
Over Motorman.

Pittsburgh.—A street car was derailed, the line tied up and a score of West Pittsburghers were badly mused up late at night when a wee bit of a mouse made its appearance in a car carrying theatergoers back to their homes.

When the mouse meandered out on the floor of the car the women made wild leaps and gyrations in their efforts to get out of the front end of the car. They knocked the motorman down, and the car, running at a high rate of speed, ran into a switch and went over into the mud. The line was blocked for an hour.

WOMAN ON TRIAL FOR KILLING 1,012

Russian Ogress Charged With Wholesale Poisoning.

St. Petersburg.—The most colossal murder trial in the annals of history will begin at Archangel next month, when a woman "philanthropist," Mme. Kusnezova, will be placed in the dock charged with murdering 1,012 children by poison.

The ogress—as such she is termed here—kept a baby farm outside the town, where illegitimate children were adopted for $25 and upward. Special prices were made for aristocratic mothers.

The fact that ever since the place was opened five years ago the death rate among the infants had been tragically high (320 died in the year 1900) did not attract attention, as child mortality in this icy northern region is normally high. Eventually, however, the police began to make inquiries. After exhuming a score of bodies in the cemetery adjoining the home they arrested the woman.

A remarkable feature of this wholesale massacre of innocents is that proper death certificates were given in each instance. Several of the children, of course, had died of natural causes, but the vast majority were found to have been poisoned. At one period there were 450 children in the home. Search is being made for the doctor, while several of Mme. Kusnezova's staff are under suspicion. The trial, in which the greatest interest is being taken, is expected to last several months, as each case will be taken more or less separately, and the evidence of over 800 mothers will be heard.

A NEW KIND OF THIEF.

"Second Story Men" Got Away With Williams' Roof.

Chicago.—Of all the odd booty of thieves shown in the police records the most curious was reported when E. A. Williams, who lives alone and works at night, complained that thieves had stolen the roof of his house.

Williams' house is a one room affair on which he had just renewed the roof. The new timber evidently was regarded as valuable.

NOTES FROM THE NEWS.

Charles V. Keeler of Winamac, Ind., paid $100 for a hog at Canonsburg, Pa. The porker had just swallowed Keeler's $200 watch, which slipped from his pocket. A Winamac butcher will explore the porcine interior to retrieve the timepiece.

A rural mail carrier at Barnwell, S. C., had in his parcel load a nine pound liver pudding, two babies and a wood on leg when he was attacked by a wildcat. He used the wooden leg to vanquish the cat and saved babies and pudding unharmed.

Montclair, N. J., leads the egg contest. A Staten Island Wyandotte started it with a double egg, one inside the other, shells all complete. Then a jealous Brooklyn Leghorn cracked and an egg nine inches long and six and a half inches in diameter was added to the exhibit. But the wise Plymouth Rock owned by Charles Poeckel of Montclair waited and now enters the list with a Siamese dumbbell egg, two perfect eggs joined by a shell tube an inch long.

The best business for any man to be in his own.

TERRIBLE ACTION OF BLOOD POISON

Soon After Cutting Foot Accidentally
Boy Begins To Be Afflicted
With Fits As Often as Six Daily.

One Operation and Treatment of Many Doctors Failed to Help
Until Going to the United Doctors.

Blood poison, the most terrible of all troubles, acts on the system in many different ways. In some cases it is contracted in early infancy, and the following case of young Anthony Ferrigno of Columbus, Ohio, will serve as a terrible warning to those who carelessly allow a cut or wound to go unhealed.

Young Ferrigno about two years ago cut his foot, which soon after showed symptoms of blood poison. Becoming alarmed, his father took him to a number of different doctors, but these physicians failed to give the young lad relief. In fact, he became sicker, worse and became afflicted with fits which grew in number and finally he could not be left alone a moment. In despair his father finally consented to having an operation performed on his son, which produced absolutely no results. The boy was now having as high as six spells or fits each day. He began to suffer also with severe stomach and bowel trouble and was in nervous wreck—a condition at last almost beyond control.

This was young Ferrigno's condition upon being brought to the United Doctors Institute for treatment. The following is the result obtained after one week's treatment and is a part of the boy's statement by the boy's father:

"I have had my son treated by other physicians and one of them operated on him but all without the slightest benefit. He never, in fact, received any benefit from any of these doctors, so finally I took him to one of the United Doctors Institutes. This was a week ago and now I feel vastly encouraged about my son's condition, for there seems no question but that soon he will be completely restored to health."

"Since he began treatment he has had only three spells whereas before he has had as many as six spells a day. My son's appetite is better, his bowels are regular and his general appearance and feeling are noticeably improved. I want every person interested to know this."

The United Doctors' Institute is on the second floor of the Arcade building, the entrance being in the Arcade near the Third Street entrance.

The grand free offer of free consultation, free examination and free treatment (except for the bare cost and distribution of the medicines used in the case) is open to all until March 1st, after which full regular fees will be charged to all.

OIL FIELD SOLD.

Coshocton, Feb. 25.—Dr. Lister Cosmo of this city and W. W. Frederick of Warsaw closed a deal yesterday by which the Helmick oil field was sold to J. F. Moyer & Co. of Pittsburgh. The new company, it is said, will spend $10,000 in development of the field.

FAINTS WHEN ACCUSED BY PROSECUTOR

Columbus, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Antonia Musso threatened twice to enter a prosecution of her trial for the murder of Peter Musso, her husband.

When called to a point where she fainted at each outburst of denunciation, and collapsed when her own lawyers made a plea for sympathy from the jury, she was a pitiable sight in court.

In a later case Mrs. Musso told the story of the tragic night in which she shot and killed her husband.

MILIE CAVALIERI REQUESTS GUARD FOR HER JEWELS

Columbus, Feb. 25.—Police Chief Lister received a request yesterday from Milie Cavalieri, the opera singer who sings at Memorial Hall tonight.

Mlle. Cavalieri sent a telegram requesting that it be arranged to have a "good-looking police-man" guard her jewels at the Hartman Hotel during her stay in Columbus. She said they were worth $200,000.

Mlle. Cavalieri sent a telegram requesting the request. He said to detail an officer for such work would be to place the responsibility for any theft on the police department. Furthermore, he apprehended some difficulty in deciding what officer of the department, by virtue of his good looks, is best entitled to the place.

It is possible for a man to have too many friends, but it takes him a long while to realize it.

A HARD WINTER

For People in Poor Health.

Winter with its sudden changes is particularly trying for old people or those who suffer from a weakened, run-down condition, chronic coughs, colds or bronchitis, but if such persons would only apply common sense methods in the treatment of their condition, much discomfort and suffering might be avoided.

The most essential thing to do is to build up strength, enrich the blood, increase vital resistance and to accomplish this nothing equals Vinol.

Mrs. H. Hartmann of Albany, N. Y., writes: "I was in a run-down condition for about five years until this spring when I learned what a great tonic and strengthener Vinol is. It is certainly the best I have ever used and it has done wonders for me."

Old people, delicate children, run-down, overworked and tired women, those suffering from bronchitis, chronic coughs and colds should try a bottle of Vinol. We will return your money if it does not help you. Frank D. Hall, druggist, Newark, O.

Little Benny's Note Book

We had a lesson about kindness to animals in school the other day and the teacher told us always to be kind to animals just as if they were human people, and even the way beam from school I heard a funny noise behind a step and wat was it but a cat, so little it was only a kitten, being yellow and black and white aw, mixed up and making a funny noise and looking as if it didn't care wat I said. It must be sick, I thawt, and I lifted it up and put it under my coat, thinking of wat the teacher sed. It didn't seem to mind being under my coat, so I took it home and wen I got up in my room I looked at it agen and it was asleep, so I put it awn my bed and shut the door and went out to have sum fun and forget aw about it for a while.

After supper pop and ma and me was in the setting room and awl of a sudden there was a funny noise, a boddly noing ware it cam from but me, and me noing it cam from my room.

Did you heer anything, sed pop. I thawt I did, sed ma. I didn't say anything. Jest then there was anuthir noise, jest like the first wun, only lowdr.

and pop sed, W. the mischief is it, enway.

I haunt imagi. I didn't say anything. Jest then there was a noise, lasting about a minute and soundings hungry.

Soundings as if it was in the house sunware, sed I.

I kept awn. The noise kept awn getting lowdr and lowdr, and I was up and startid to look for it, but in my house, looking for it, and not finding anything and the noise shut looking.

I guess it must be a neckst doar, sed pop. It soundid as if it was a sick baby, or a cat or sum suthin animal.

Poor thing, sed ma. I didn't say anything.

Jest then the noise startid agen.

Well, for the sake of the sacred eardrum we didn't speak up, sed pop. ware it was wat it is, a cat. Its in my room, I sed, but its not a cat.

Then wat is the naim of diskord is it, sed pop.

A kitten, I sed.

A wat, sed pop.

A kitten, sed, the teacher told us to be kind to dumb animals and I saw a kitten awl the way home from school and it looked widdy dum so I brate it home, its up in my bed.

Grave heavings, sed ma, and she ran up stairs and cald down agen with the kitten in her arms asleep, saying, O Willyum, izent it the kindest thing.

Yes, it izent, sed pop.

Wich maybe it wasent, and he maid ma put it out.

It is a poor treatment for stomach trouble that treats the stomach alone. Back of all your lack of appetite, sourness of stomach, belching of gas, nausea, pains after eating, nervousness and lump-like feeling in the stomach is bad blood. The food fermenting in the stomach, only partly digested, because the stomach is weak. You will have to give your stomach plenty of pure blood before you can hope to get rid of your indigestion.

Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a time and notice the difference in your stomach. These pills go deeper than a medicine that acts on the stomach alone. They get at the cause of all your trouble. They work readily on the blood, cleansing it and making it red and healthy. Where once the sight of food was repulsive, you will have a good appetite. You will be able to eat the good food a day without discomfort. Your stomach will be strong and well that all the distress, nausea, gas and pains will be gone, showing that the pills have done their work well.

You will also find a great improvement in your general health. You will begin to feel like a new person. Before taking the pills your stomach and entire body were being poisoned with impure, diseased blood. That was the reason you so often felt worn out and heavy and that your head ached and was dizzy and dull. The pills will send your stomach to get every bit of nourishment out of the food that you eat. This, with the abundant rich, pure blood that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always make, will nourish and tone up every muscle, nerve and tissue.

A book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," is free upon request. Your druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

DR. MCGUIRE OF NEW YORK CITY AT TRINITY CHURCH

The Rev. Dr. G. A. McGuire of New York City will preach at the morning service at Trinity church on Sunday. Dr. McGuire is the field agent of the American Church Institute for Negroes. It is under the direction of this organization that a large and influential work among the Southern negroes is done. Hospitals, schools, colleges, seminaries, etc., are maintained, as well as religious workshop. Dr. McGuire will speak upon "What the Episcopal Church is Doing for the Negro." A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to come and hear him.

DORR FOUND GUILTY OF MARSH MURDER

Salem, Mass., Feb. 25.—William A. Dorr, of Stockton, Cal., was found guilty last evening of the murder of George E. Marsh of Lynn, Mass.

The jury was out about two hours. In his closing argument counsel for the defendant said it was not claimed that his client was insane. Nevertheless Judge Joseph E. Quinn, in his charge, said if the jurors believed Dorr to have been insane when he shot the aged manufacturer they might return a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

A dramatic touch was added as the trial came to an end by the prisoner, who, when the court was about to charge the jury, arose from his seat in his steel cage, pale and trembling, and in a voice quivering with emotion, cried out:

"I have just a few words I would like to say. Although I am 4,000 miles away from home I feel that this jury will do what is right."

Dorr heard the verdict with little display of emotion. His face paled slightly, the muscles of his jaw tightened and his hands gripped the bar in front of the prisoner's cage. Then he sat down, and after that appeared to be unconcerned.

Under the law sentence cannot be pronounced for 20 days, within which time the attorneys for the defense are privileged to file exceptions.

The penalty is death in an electric chair.

CONTRACT LET.

Frazeeburg, Feb. 25.—Contract for erecting the new school building here was let yesterday to Albert Adam & Son of Zanesville on their bid, of $24,000. There were fourteen other bidders. The building will be a two-story, eight-room structure and one of the features will be an assembly hall.

WANTED CHORUS GIRLS.

Manfield, Feb. 25.—Walter Hoyt, alias Earl Watson, was arrested here for Barbertain authorities for obtaining money under false pretenses. Hoyt advertised for chorus girls and demanded a deposit to insure him that they would remain with the show. The police claim he has no show.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD---USE A LITTLE SAGE TEA

Says Sage and Sulphur Darkens Hair Beautifully and Ends Dandruff.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair, says a well-known local pharmacist. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful and even today this simple preparation has no equal. Millions of women and men too, who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive use only Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Nowadays we are not bothered with the task of gathering the sage leaves and the mussy mixing at home. Simply ask at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of the ready to use preparation, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Customers like this best because it darkens so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it contains ingredients which take off dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. No, it isn't a dye or even like it. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color.

What delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair they say it brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Hall's Drug Store, 10 North Side Square, agent.

AMUSEMENTS

Al. H. Wilson Tonight.

A peculiar characteristic about Al. H. Wilson, the German dialect comedian, who comes to the Auditorium tonight in his latest comedy, "It Happened in Potsdam," is that he, through his manager, Sidney R. Ellis, changes his play every season when his admirers wish that he repeated or revived some of his previous successes. Not only is he abreast of the times, but to satisfy his personal ambition, to do something new while Mr. Wilson is kept busy reading hundreds of plays with the hope of stumbling across something better than anything in which he has yet appeared. In "Metz von Klatz" he has an original role in his new play, and with the introduction of his new song successes, he bids fair to add another charming portrayal to his gallery of new parts.

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Pictures.

The Auditorium will have for its attraction Monday and Tuesday, March 3 and 4, the Carl Hagenbeck and Great Wallace Shows in moving pictures. They are said to be the most novel and realistic motion pictures ever exhibited, producing in four thousand feet of film the entire shows complete. It is a grand production participated in by 700 people, 300 horses, 200 wild beasts, 14 elephants, 200 performers and 50 clowns. This picture should not only prove a rare treat for the kiddies, but for the grown-ups as well. Marjorie will be given daily and pupils will have plenty of time to see the entire show after school. The prices of admission will be 5 and 10 cents.

"The Woman."

The attraction at the Auditorium March 7 will be David Belasco's remarkable representation of William C. DeMille's well known play, "The Woman," which comes direct, with production and cast intact, from a run of nine months at the Republic theatre, New York, and six months in Chicago. This will be the first appearance in this city of this play, which has proved one of the most successful of recent years. It is produced with that genius which has made David Belasco's name synonymous with success all over the country and the cast is one of the strongest ever gotten together for a modern play. The scenes of "The Woman" are laid in Washington and the background of the play is a certain phase of national politics which gives the story a particularly timely interest. While based on politics, the play tells an intensely interesting and human story and its answer to one of the big human questions of the time is honest and uncompromising. The cast includes such well known players as Marjorie Wood, Marion Barney, James Sealey, Howell Hansel, Austin Webb, Hugh Dillman, Hallett Thompson and others.

"Buddy Izzy" Comes Back.

George Sidney, who is to be seen in the 1913 edition of the musical farce vehicle, "Buddy Izzy," this year has amply demonstrated his ability as a laugh maker. Sidney is a comedian of original methods and his character of Izzy, the little hoodlum, has made him a following all his own who will anxiously await his coming to the Auditorium Saturday, March 8.

"The Littlest Rebel."

Marshall Farnum, whose starring tour under the direction of A. H. Woods was one of last season's biggest successes, will be presented under the same management March 13 at the Auditorium, when he will appear in the role of Capt. Cary in Edward Peple's interesting war play, "The Littlest Rebel." Mr. Farnum will be supported by an exceptionally well balanced cast.

The Orpheum.

The bill which is being given at the Orpheum for the last half of the week is making a pronounced hit. The Imperial Comedy Trio, hoop rollers and jugglers, open the bill and their act should be seen to be appreciated. It is one of the finest of its kind which has ever played the Arcade theatre and won great favor with the large audiences on Thursday.

Miss Gracie Faust, a handsome, petite little miss with winning ways, found great favor with the audience by her interpretation of the late song hits. She also is a versatile and artist of more than ordinary ability and was repeatedly encored for her clever work.

The Three Fays continue to make good and get the recalls fast and furious. They were held over from the first of the week on account of the cancellation of another act and Manager Boyce is to be congratulated on his far-sightedness, as they continue to be one of the drawing features which is packing the pretty little Arcade theatre.

The big feature on the program is the Garrison Sisters in a posing act as living pictures. They show fourteen poses in all and beauty and art are given full sway and hold the audience spellbound for a period of twenty minutes. Get in line and order your seats by phone and you will enjoy an evening's entertainment that is well worth while.

WILL START COMEDY SHOW FROM NEWARK

"The American Beauty Girls," a musical comedy organization organized in this city by Messrs. Boyce & Gallagher of the Orpheum theatre, has completed its rehearsals and leaves Monday on a road trip which will cover the balance of the season. They will give two complete changes of bills and will play three-night and week stands, opening at the Veller theatre at Zanesville for a week, three nights at New Philadelphia and three at Coshocton, later appearing at the Orpheum in this city. The special scenery has been painted by Mr. Francis Boyce, who has a talent along that line that is remarkable, having furnished the scenery for many of the large theatres all over the country. The many friends of Messrs. Boyce & Gallagher trust that their venture will make good and prove a money-maker.

COUNTY S. S. JOTTINGS.

The County Sunday School convention will be held in Newark, May 23 and 24.

The statistical report blanks are in the hands of the township secretaries and should reach every Sunday school in the county before this goes to press. You can help the county and state officers to work more intelligently if these blanks are promptly filled out and returned to your township secretary.

The teacher training secretary reports more than 100 students enrolled in teacher-training classes. Those who will complete the course in time to receive a diploma at the county commencement, May 23 or 24, should write to Rev. O. L. Martin, Kirkersville for full particulars.

The secretary is making out a schedule of spring conventions for the various townships. If you have not already secured a date for your spring convention, you should write at once to the county secretary. Monroe township reports 325 pupils in attendance upon the three Johnstown Sunday schools last Sunday--or a gain of about 225. This increase was due to a unified and organized effort on the part of the three schools, to bring the Sunday school attendance

The Case Book of a Private Detective

True Narratives of Interesting Cases by a Former Operative of the William J. Burns Detective Agency
By DAVID CORNELL

MY FIRST CASE

"Getting" the Man Who Hung a Jury

Up to the day that the manager of the New York office of the Burns Detective Agency handed me an order for $50 expense money and started me up the Hudson river on my first man-hunt, I had never done anything in my life that might have been suspected of even remotely resembling detective work. I probably knew as little about the business as anybody in the country, and I had never had any yearning or intention to become a detective. But I was 36 years old, out of work, almost broke—in New York—had a family to support and, most important of all, I happened to have met the celebrated detective who is the head of the agency by which I came to be employed, the largest reputable private detective agency in the country. That was why I became, and am, a private detective.

One morning I found myself at 42d street and Broadway, looking at the newspaper bulletins and wondering how long my money would last and where in the world I should turn for a job. One of the bulletins read: "Detective Burns Nabs More Br-".

That bulletin did the trick. "He may remember me," I thought, "and he may know of a job to fit me." I went straight down town to the office of the agency of which the big man is the head and asked if he was in.

"What do you want of him?" asked the office manager.

I was desperate. I said: "I know him, and I want a job."

He looked me over, went into an inner office for a while, and reappeared, bearing an application blank. The office, and everything in it, was just as it would be in an up-to-date business office. The business of the place might as well have been selling insurance as hunting criminals. The application blank had all the conventional questions of such a paper, and in addition these:

"Were you ever connected with any police force, or any detective agency? Are you acquainted with any police officials, or any one employed by detective agencies?"

"Were you ever employed by any railroad?"

"Do you know anything about the newspaper business?"

"Have you a large number of acquaintances, and can you keep your occupation from your friends and acquaintances?"

"Fill that out," said the office manager. He had not even asked me if I wanted to become a detective, and but for the last questions on the blank I would not have known that he was considering me as an applicant for such a position.

"I've never done any detective work in my life," I said.

"Good," he said. "If you had, we wouldn't have you. Fill out the blank."

When it was filled out he took it and disappeared again. He was back in three minutes.

"All right," he said, sitting down at his desk and picking up some papers. "There's a man up in Peeksville (a small town on the Hudson river near New York), who hung the jury in a damage suit. Want you to go up and get him. Here's the dope."

He began to read from the papers in his hand. The gist of it was that one Kellner, a New York contractor, had done $100,000 worth of work on the water supply system of the town of Peeksville. When the time came for him to render his bill he had been approached by one of the town's political powers, Bruley by name, and commissioner of public works, who let it be known that if he would make out a bill for $130,000, it would be allowed in full without protest or question, and that $5,000 of the $30,000 overcharge would go to him as a reward for placing certain officials in the way of fingering $25,000 of the people's money.

Kellner had refused. When he rendered his rightful bill for $100,000 the powers in the city hall calmly cut it to $85,000, claiming that portions of the work were poorly done; that parts of the contract had been awarded illegally, but in reality merely getting even with Kellner for refusing to assist them to some easy graft.

Kellner promptly sued. He had a case so strong, and public opinion was so strongly aroused over the exposed scandal, that recovery of his $15,000 seemed a foregone conclusion. But the would-be grafters had managed to place the nigger in the woodpile in the shape of one of their clan on the jury. Eleven of the jurymen on the first ballot had voted for a full judgment for Kellner. The twelfth man had voted "no" on that ballot, and on the second, and the third, and on every ballot for the next twenty-four hours. He had hung the jury, and the case was a mistrial. The man's name was Harry Donlin, a real estate agent.

"That's the man you've got to get," said the office manager. "He did the trick, and he's been spending money ever since. We've got to have a full confession from him that we can use as evidence, and it's got to be in writing and sworn to, or told in the hearing of at least two people: who gave him the bribe, when, and what for. And we've got to get it in a hurry, too, because the new trial is coming on in less than a month. Have you got any money?"

I didn't have enough to be worth mentioning. He drew a pink pad to him, wrote out an order on the cashier for $50 and handed it to me.

"Get up there right away," he said. "You can get a train every hour on the even hour. Here are some report forms. Write a full report of your doings every day and mail it every evening. Don't forget to make your report cover all your time."

That was how I entered this business. I had been accustomed to seeing things move with businesslike expediency in other offices, but this beat all records. Thirty minutes before I had entered the office inquiring for the chief, I had not seen the chief, had not been questioned; but here I was handed $50, sent out on what seemed to me like a complicated case of detective work, and being calmly told to get a full confession from a man I knew no more about than about Adam.

"They are just trying me out to see how I act," I thought, as I took the money order. So I said: "All right. When shall I report here again?"

"We will let you know," was the answer.

I caught a three o'clock train on the New York Central and took a seat in the smoking car. Across the aisle lolled a tall, lanky, good-natured young fellow whose ticket, stuck in the seat in front of him, showed that he was going to Peeksville, my destination. On the chance that he lived in the town, or knew something about it, I took out my pipe, stuffed it, and began to search, ostensibly for the matches I pretended not to have. I drew his attention first, then said: "You don't happen to have an extra match, do you?"

"Sure," he said, and began to dig. I crossed over and sat down beside him. As I accepted the match and prepared to light my pipe I stuck my ticket in the seat before us, where he could not fail to see it.

"Going to Peeksville, too?" he said, genially.

"Yes," I said, puffing away. "You going there?"

"Yep," he said. "I live there. You don't live there, do you?"

"No," I answered.

"Thought not," said my friend. "I know everybody there. Peeksville is a mighty nice little place." He looked me over. I was prosperous looking.

"Say," he said, "if you're thinking of buying a place up there you want to see Donlin by all means. He's the agent for the best real estate bargains in town. I'm a friend of his, and I know he's right."

Donlin was the man I was after. I pretended to misunderstand the name. "Who? Donaldson?"

"Donlin," he corrected. "Harry Donlin. I'll introduce you to him if you wish when we get up there."

I did my best to get on a friendly basis with my good natured young friend, and by the time we neared our destination I knew that his name was Daley, he knew that mine was Cornell, and we were getting along so well that when we stepped from the train we walked straight across the street to have a friendly glass of beer.

In the barroom we ran into a short, heavy set man, with a nervous, twitching mouth, and restless eyes. He was one of the most worried looking men I have ever seen.

"Ah, hello, Harry!" bawled Daley. "Say, Harry, I want to introduce you to an old friend of mine from Chicago. Mr. Cornell, like to have you meet Mr. Donlin. Mr. Donlin's an old pal of mine, too."

Mr. Donlin's expression relaxed a little when he heard that I was "an old friend of Daley's." It was obviously a relief to him to hear that I was known by one of his "pals," and he showed it by greeting me in a hearty manner, and by insisting on buying drinks. I told him that I might be interested in a house in Peeksville, and he began to treat me with considerable deference. When I left him for the evening he had made an appointment for ten o'clock next morning to make a tour of inspection of the desirable houses for sale in Peeksville.

We drove through the town and looked at half a dozen little houses. I was not particularly impressed with any of them, or at least pretended not to be. There was one that I told Donlin might do—if I decided that the town was to my liking.

For the next two days he spent about half of his time and some of his money proving to me that he was a good fellow, and that the town was full of good fellows. On the second day he was calling me by my first name, and I was reciprocating. He was an easy-going, not over-brilliant Irishman, who apparently was afraid ever to become entirely sober, and who never wanted to be without a congenial companion to talk to. He was plainly living under a great strain.

On the third day a letter from the office directed me to come in to the New York office that evening.

"Go in and see the chief," said the office manager when I reported. The chief was in his private office with my reports on his desk before him.

"Well," he said, without troubling about a greeting, "you're showing considerable speed for a big fellow. I guess you'd better begin to do the crook stuff right away. You're from Chicago. You got into a little trouble out there and you had to leave. You are keeping out of sight of the Chicago authorities, and you picked out Peeksville as a likely place to hide in. You understand, don't you?"

"I'm to pose as a crook?"

"Certainly. This man Donlin is a natural blabber, he'll talk if you get close to him. You have got a good start by pretending to be looking for a house. Now, tomorrow you stall about being afraid of going out so much; keep under cover. Stay in your room a lot. Begin to fight shy of the house proposition. Let your man know that you're a little afraid of him. Keep away from him. Make him come to you. Then let him pump it out of you that you're hiding, and that you cleaned up big on a crooked deal in Chicago. We'll have a letter written to you from the Chicago office. Lose this letter where your man will find and read it, and your stall as a crook will make good. And if he begins to show any inclination to tell you his own secrets, at first tell him you don't want to hear them; that you've got troubles enough of your own. Understand? And the next time you come into the office cover your tracks by going through some building with two entrances before coming here."

I went back to Peeksville, and the some sort of trouble, and that I was in Peeksville for the purpose of keeping out of sight. The last words he said were:

"Don't worry, old man. We're your friends. The bunch is right."

Two days later the letter came to me from the Chicago office. It was mailed in a plain envelope and professed to come from my brother.

It read:

"Dear Dave:

"I have been talking with Mr. Grimmer, and you are mistaken in believing that he only wants to hurt you; all that he cares about is getting his money back. I told him that he could take his choice, either to go on and stir up a lot of noise and discredit you here forever, and get his money back, or else get his money and keep quiet. He said: 'Give me my money; that's all I care about.' I then told him that he was mistaken when he said the amount you had got was $38,000. I said that you had got less than $25,000, and that in moving around the country you had spent $3,000, so all you had was about $22,000. He didn't believe it, but he is so greedy for money that he agreed to drop everything, and sign a paper clearing you if he gets back $22,000."

"Now, I think that was a pretty fine piece of business on my part, and that it is the best thing you can do. Even if you go into court and fight him and show him up for what he is, he is going to show you up, and you'll be ruined if he does. If you return $22,000 you clean up $18,000; which will help me. My advice is that you do this. At all events let me know at once what you are going to do."

"Don't forget to burn this."

"Your brother,"

"FRED."

Donlin took me buggy riding to look ing kind of tired of this place myself. What do you say?"

"I'll go you," he said. "I don't care where I go. Damn it. A fellow can get into more trouble when things aren't right at home than he knows how to handle. If she was the kind of woman you could tell things to—"

"Don't talk to me about that, Harry," I interrupted. "I'm the one who knows what that means. To be frank, that's why I left Chicago, because things weren't right at home."

"Yes, but take my case here," he protested. "I—"

"I don't want to hear your troubles," I said. "I've got all I can do to hold down my own. Let's go down to New York on the next train and hang around there today and go up the river on the night boat."

"Come on," he said.

Had I given him a chance to talk he might have spouted out his whole story on the train going down to the city. That was all that was troubling him; he needed somebody to whom he could tell the story of his crime. But I kept interrupting and leading the conversation away to other subjects. As soon as we reached New York I made a pretext of calling up to find at what time the boats left, and called up the office and told the whole situation.

"Well," said the manager in a casual sort of way, "we ought to get him tonight on the boat. I'll reserve a stateroom for you on the C. W. Morse, of the Hudson Line. You just hold your man off until you get him in there, and then get him to talk. That's all you need to trouble about. We'll do the rest. You get your boat at 6:30 at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, and when you enter your stateroom take off your hat and wipe your forehead so our men will have a spot down. Well, there's one satisfaction: I'll take some of 'em with me when I go down."

"How much did you get out of it?" demanded Donlin suddenly.

I looked at him and knew he had read the letter.

"I'll come through with about $18,000," I said. "But I wouldn't go through this worry again for ten times that much."

"Hell," he growled. "And you're kicking! What would you say to taking a measly little twenty-five hundred from a dirty bunch of rich crooks and going around with everybody suspecting you of having done it?"

"Say, Cornell," he said, striking the side of his chair. "You think you've been steered up against it and thrown down, but let me tell you that you don't know what a raw deal it is. Here now, listen to me. I want to tell you this; you've got to listen. Why, damn it, man, you've got to listen. I'll go crazy if I don't tell somebody."

He loosened his collar and went on.

"Here a little over a month ago old man Smythe, our mayor, and Bruley, the commissioner of public works, and the rest of that bunch of high-binders that runs things in Peeksville, got into a mess. They'd tried to get a contractor named Kellner to help them sting the city for $30,000. He turned on 'em and wouldn't give 'em a chance, and to get even with him they cut down his charge for work on the waterworks contract to $15,000. Well, he comes out and sues them. He's got a cinch case, see, and the best they can hope for is to pack the jury and get a disagreement."

"Old Smythe says, 'Donlin, you're drawn on the venire for the jury that is going to try this case. We want you on there, you understand; we want to have one of our friends on that jury. We're glad of the chance to have you on because we know you're one of us and we all want to stick together. We will see that you get on that jury—don't worry about that—and there'll be a little envelope slipped into your pocket as you leave here, and—the worst we want is a disagreement. Understand?'"

"How long ago was this?"

"Only a little more than a month ago," he said. "Just three days before the trial—the night of May 23rd. Well, as I was saying, I went out, and when I got home I felt in my pocket and there was the envelope—with $2,500 in it."

"Didn't you see them slip the envelope to you?" I asked.

"Sure," he said. "Bruley slipped it into my pocket and winked and slapped me on the shoulder when he did it. Well, they got me accepted for the jury all right. Then Bruley comes to me and says: 'Say, Donlin, don't forget you're one of us now. You've got to deliver the goods.'"

"Well, I delivered the goods, all right. The other eleven men wanted to kill me, but I hung out. 'No judgment,' I said, 'or I'll stay out until Christmas.' I earned that $2,500 all right—we disagreed. And the other day Mrs. Smythe gives a lawn party and never a word about inviting Mrs. Donlin. Oh, yes, I was one of them all right—when they needed me."

"Pshaw!" I said. "You hung a jury for 'em for twenty-five hundred and now they're turni' gold to you?"

"Yes. That's the kind they are."

"Pshaw!" I said. "Now let's go and get something to eat. I'm desperately hungry."

I haven't given Donlin's complete conversation here, but only the gist of his confession. But Donlin himself had a complete typewritten report of his talk in the stateroom handed to him in the hotel in Albany two days later. The Chief and the office manager called on him unexpectedly in his room and, handing him a carbon copy of his conversation, asked him if there were any inaccuracies to be corrected in it.

"I guess that's about right," said the Chief casually. "We knew all the time that the reason you hung that jury was to save those fellows, and we knew you weren't doing it for your health; but we wanted to get you to tell us all about it yourself, so we got it when you were talking to your friend on the boat the other night. Now, Donlin, we've got the goods on you," said Burns. "You've got two chances. One is to make us put you in prison for accepting a bribe; the other is to go with us and help us to make those crooks, who paid you, pay our client his $15,000 without any more lawsuits. What are you going to do; go to jail, or come on our side?"

Donlin was staring at the report in dazed fashion. There it was, every word that he had said, every question that I had asked, down in carbon; and we had been in a locked stateroom while we were talking, and he had been with me ever since. He was dumfounded for a while. Then he expressed the universal curiosity over detective work. He looked up in amazement at the Chief and said:

"Well! How in the devil did you ever do it?"

But it was not the Chief's disposition to give away the tricks of the trade. It was not until several days later, when Donlin's confession had frightened the politicians at Peeksville into acknowledging Contractor Kellner's bill in full, that I knew that in each of the staterooms adjoining ours there had been a stenographer with his ear to a dictagraph all the way up the river, and that Donlin literally had made his confession in the hearing of three people.

"That was just a piece of built-head luck, wasn't it?" I asked Chief Burns.

"Oh, no," he said. "We had tried five other men on him before you; we were sure to get somebody he would take to and blab his head off. It was only a question of time. Most detective work is."

—and poor Donlin relieved his soul.

next day I stayed in my room. I had my meals sent up and sent a boy out for some magazines to read. I went out for a walk at night, keeping entirely to the dark side streets. The clerk eyed me rather strangely as I returned, and I knew that soon Donlin would hear about my strange conduct.

The next day I did the same thing. In the evening there was a knock at my door.

"Who is it?" I demanded, sharply.

"Donlin," came the answer. "What's the matter, old man? Feeling sick?"

After delaying a moment I opened the door a little, looked out, as if to assure myself that it was Donlin, and let him in. He looked at me curiously.

"You aren't sick, are you?" he said.

"No," I said. "I just stayed in my room, that's all."

He kept looking at me steadily. "Anything gone wrong?" he said.

"Oh, no," I said. "No, I just got tired of showing myself—of running around so much."

I had never had any experience in acting before, but let me say here that such success as I have had as a detective has been due more to the fact that I possess a certain natural talent for playing parts in a way to win the confidence of the man I am after, than anything else. Before Donlin left me that evening he had fully drawn the conclusion that I was in at another house that afternoon. We were chums by this time. When I left him I managed to slip the letter, without the envelope, into the seat where I had been sitting without being observed.

I never saw or heard of that letter again, but Donlin found it and read it and it did its work, as I discovered later. One day, three weeks after I came to Peeksville, he came up to my room slightly more under the influence of liquor than usual, and told me that he had quarrelled with his wife. And through that I "got" my man. I had won his confidence; he trusted me even before his wife.

"That's been my whole trouble all the time," he said. "My wife won't let me alone. I'm nagging about it. I've been nagging about it for three weeks after I came to Peeksville, he came up to my room slightly more under the influence of liquor than usual, and told me that he had quarrelled with his wife. And through that I "got" my man. I had won his confidence; he trusted me even before his wife.

on you and know that everything is all right."

I came out and told Donlin that I had reserved a stateroom for us by phone. I had no idea of how all this was going to work out, but I followed directions implicitly. The New York American League were playing Detroit that day, and Donlin being a fan we went to the game. It was my purpose to keep him in a crowd so he would have no temptation to begin his tale of woe until we got on the boat. It seems strange to think of a detective working himself into a sweat to keep his quarry from making a confession, but that is what I did this afternoon. After the game we hurried from the ball grounds to the boat, where, as we entered our room, I removed my hat and wiped my forehead, as per directions. Two young fellows, apparently clerks, had staterooms on either side of ours, but it was not until later that I knew what part they were playing in our programme.

I waited until the boat had cast off before I began the line of talk I had decided upon. I began to curse my luck, my supposed former employer, my alleged brother, my assumed wife, and everybody that I could think of. I played the part of a whimpereur to a finish.

"If they'd only stuck by me in the first place," I wailed, "I would never have been in any trouble, and now that I'm in they're throwing me

OLD GUARD

WILL NOT RECEIVE AID FROM THE STATE TO ATTEND IN AUGURATION.

Mayor Karb Headed Delegation of Citizens Urging Appropriation, But To No Avail.

Columbus, Feb. 28.—Expediently and unemotionally, the house yesterday squelched the proposal to send the Old Guard of civil war veterans of Columbus and Newark to the Wilson inaugural at the expense of the state. Representative Fulton of Lakewood informed the house that unless action was taken at once it would be too late to get through the senate his bill appropriating $2000, and asked that the measure be taken from the finance committee, which had not acted on it. Chairman Cowan of this committee said the committee was willing to be relieved of the old soldier bill.

Mr. Fulton was blocked, however, when he tried to get the necessary two-thirds vote for immediate consideration. The vote was 41 to 37.

Mayor Karb headed a delegation of Columbus citizens which went to the state house yesterday to urge the passage of the bill.

SHOE COMPANY HAS ORGANIZED DISTRICT BRANCH

The G. Edwin Smith Shoe Company of Columbus has organized its Newark branch as a separate concern, to be known as the Midland Shoe Company. Officers and directors of the two companies will remain the same, with the exception of Harry Arnold, who becomes a new director of the Midland Company. The organization was made for the purpose of keeping the business of the branch apart from that of the parent company in Columbus.

MAY USE SPECIAL DELIVERY STAMPS ON PARCEL POST

A new rule has been made regarding parcel post packages. When the new law governing the delivery of parcel post packages first went into effect, many thought to hasten the delivery of the package by the annexing of a special delivery stamp in connection with the parcel post stamps. However, the department would not permit it.

Word has now been received at the local postoffice that special delivery stamps may be placed in connection with the regulation parcel post stamps, and that the special delivery stamp will insure its delivery immediately upon its arrival in the city. This is one of the steps toward the perfection of the new law.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

The woman with tender skin dreads February and March because they are likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind, the recent discovery of a new prescription, Obline—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep the skin clear and white. No matter how uniform a case of freckles you have, the double strength obline should remove them. Get an ounce from any first class druggist, and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.

AGENT GREW INSULTING

An agent representing a firm taking orders for the enlargement of pictures grew insulting when he visited a West Newark home yesterday, and was ordered from the place. He made himself obnoxious in other ways and insisted on flirting with women he passed on the street. He chose a time for his operations when most of the homes were deserted by the men folk, who were at work, and escaped the thrashing that he deserved.

WEST VIRGINIA IN STATE OF INSURRECTION

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 28.—The state of insurrection exists in West Virginia, because of the strike of miners in the Kanawha coal field, was intimated by Judge George Poffenberger of the supreme court of appeals when he announced the decision of the court today denying the habeas corpus proceedings brought to secure the transfer of Mother Jones and other labor leaders from the custody of the military to the civil authorities.

The judge said: "We think that inasmuch as the statute says the governor may arrest and detain persons who are aiding and abetting insurrection until the insurrection is suppressed and order restored, it authorizes him to do so in such cases as this and there is not a violation of the constitutional provisions against the preservation of life, liberty and property without due process of law.

The court did not pass on the right of the governor's military commission to try the accused, state attorneys contending that that question was settled by the supreme court of the United States last fall. Trials by the military commission it is expected will be commenced after the election of Governor Hatfield next week.

THE BIRTHDAY CALENDAR.

28

February

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Distractions, though pleasant, will cause your judgment to waver, and some dilemma will soon confront you unless you take heed. Journeys or removals seem unpropitious. Those born today will make friends an'ng clever and accomplished people, and will strive to equal them. This tendency should be encouraged by their guardians. Indolence should not be tolerated in these children.
